

Whatever stealing or corruption you are involved in, Jesus is telling you REPENT and COME UNTO ME, Matthew 4:17, and 11:28. Do you want to fall down dead before you repent? We saw the case of that woman she eventually repented, returned all that money before death came calling. Whatever sin you are committing, the day has come for you to turn to God and ask for his forgiveness and then invite Jesus into your heart and God shall wash all your sins away with the blood of Jesus.

SHE WAS COUNTING AND STEALING CHURCH'S MONEY
NOT TOO LONG,
SOMETHING TRAGIC HAPPENED TO HER
(True Life Story)

Have you heard of something sacred? That is something that is special that ought not to be handled anyhow. Church's money is in that category because when men give in their various church services though men receive them, it is God that they know they have given to honour and not man and that is the truth, that is why church's money is sacred and must be handled so. That which men offer to God must be treated with some measure of reverence to God almighty.

There was a woman who was entrusted with the counting and keeping of her church's money and the pastor did that for a very long time and no one ever suspected she was stealing from the money. Everyone in church saw her as a committed and dedicated woman in the church and she was respected. In fact when her pastor declared three days dry fasting out of the whole lot of members she was the only one who could do either two or the three days, so you can see her level of religiosity but in all of that she was counting and stealing church's money but her conscience was tormenting and pricking her, she was recording all her theft in terms of value of the amount she was taking. Along the line she could no longer continue the stealing, she was fed up and then one day her daughter gave her a bulk money and she returned the whole money but never told the pastor what she was doing then not too long she was in the church right on the altar, fell down and she died. What she was doing came to limelight because she told of one her children but that she had returned the money. Well, the final judgment is left for God to decide but we do know if men repent God in his mercy forgives.

There are some in her position that are counting church's money and are stealing from it. They think they are smart and wise, others are stealing their company's goods or money thinking no one is seeing them, some others are in government positions and they are stealing and embezzling the people's common patrimony thinking they are accumulating wealth for themselves and family members, Others are there stealing their parent's money, while some are there stealing from others in one way or the other thinking they are very intelligent.
