cross of Calvary, see what he said in John 15:13; greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his own life for his friends.

You can see what Jesus did for you. He has suffered for your sake before God and God has accepted his suffering for the sake of your sin, if only you can agree with what Jesus did and go to God in repentance to forgive you for the sake of Jesus he will forgive you and wash your sins away with Jesus blood and you will escape his future judgment on all unrepentant sinners. Why not do that repentance now before it's too late?

Have you been made to pass through pain for the sake of another? Have you paid the debt for someone and he was allowed to go free by the creditor? Have you gone extra mile just to provide comfort for another person at the expense of your personal convenience?

There is the story of two young ladies, they were just pupils in the primary school, their class teacher gave them homework (assignment) to carry out, one of them did not do her assignment but the others did. The day of the submission came and the one who did hers during submission decided to delete her name and put her friend's name and when the roll call was made of those who did not submit, her name was called and the friend she put her name was shocked because she was aware her friend did the assignment and submitted hers, eventually the one who did her assignment was called, the teacher gave her some strokes of the cane, for each of the strokes she took, her friend was wondering why she had to do all that for her, she suffered so that her friend will not suffer, she bore the pain for her friend.

Do you know what happened—? The other young lady grew up to fully comprehend what love is all about. She never forgot that show of genuine love which her friend showed to her.

Do you know God hate sin and for each sin man commits God is provoked? If you are living in sin, do you know God is angry with you every day? Each lie you tell, fornication, drunkenness, drug addiction, abortion, murder, homosexuality, lesbianism, gay, etc., that you get yourself involved in, you are provoking God and God is angry with you and that one day you will face his eternal judgment and be banished to a place of everlasting punishment initially prepared for the devil and his angels? Matthew 25:41.

Now, instead of you to face the judgment of God, Jesus decided to suffer on your behalf. He died a very shameful and painful death on the
